CBS' TV news coverage early a.m. 4/27/73 on WG developments, including Gray's burnings and Magruder's resignation much better than its radio. First 1/4 hr 7 a.m. news entirely on this. They are to return with other news about WG situation in second half. They had Dans Rather and Schorr live, with Schorr beginning by saying that he would not ad lib because he would be dealing with materials much too sensitive, that he had written something out and would read it. He did. After an interjection by Rather, to emphasize needlessly that nobody had been indicted, they went into the camps in the WH at war with each other. Except for the needless protection, it was first-rate journalism and the explanations were lucid and accurate, comprehensible to the unsophisticated. They pinned guilty knowledge on everyone except the WH chef and The Mistress of Tinsel. HW 4/27/73,7:20 a.m.
